

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

02
The present invention relates to peptides and pseudopeptides which inhibit platelet aggregation and thrombus formation thereby being useful in the prevention and treatment of thrombosis associated with disease states such as myocardial infarction, stroke, peripheral arterial disease, and disseminated intravascular coagulation.